

Greenwich House Malakoff Girls Basketball League

Greenwich House Girls Basketball League combines volunteer coaching, mentorship opportunities and strong community and parental support for girls 9 - 15 years of age.

The League's goals are to give girls a chance to have fun while enhancing self-esteem, teach them to win and lose gracefully, work well with others and instill the discipline to faithfully attend practices as well as games.

No experience playing is necessary as our volunteer coaches, who have a love for basketball, are hands-on in teaching the fundamentals of the sport. All participants receive a team trophy at the end of the season. Participants will also benefit from clinics run by the Columbia Women's Basketball Team.

The League runs from November through March with team practices every Friday evening and games are held Saturday mornings. Games and practices take place at Village Community School in the heart of Greenwich Village.

About Greenwich House

The Girls Basketball League is just one program of Greenwich House. Since its founding in 1902, Greenwich House has been on the forefront of helping individuals and families lead more fulfilling lives by offering social and health services, cultural and education programs and opportunities for civic involvement to New Yorkers of all ages and backgrounds. Recently, Greenwich House expanded its programming to welcome an After-School and Summer Arts Camp reaching the communities youth.
